HEAD OF SCHOOL CORNER

We invite you to peruse the next few pages of our students in action, whether in the classroom or on the court; they are excited, full of energy and doing great! May Allah swt guide them, protect them and grant them success.

TEACHER IN-SERVICE DAY

On December 10, we held our second Teacher In-Service Day for the school year. The staff spent the day in workshops on differentiation. An additional 19 staff members received First Aid, CPR, and AED training and became certified.

EARLY CHILDHOOD HIGHLIGHTS

The caring bond of friendship between students and teachers continues to flourish. Teachers organized fun filled activities on weather changes and Pre-K classes made snow while learning science concepts. The students have been working on projects to increase their fine motor skills and reinforcing identifying letters and numbers. The love for Qur'an and the Arabic language has been instilled by incorporating duas and surahs on a daily basis.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Our Elementary School students have been developing their reading comprehension, math and writing skills. They have been working on their Arabic reading and reciting surahs. Teachers have been engaging their students in various hands-on projects. Classes have been learning about dinosaurs, continents, geography, global warming and Martin Luther King. Of course, one of the highlights of their day is recess and playing with their friends.

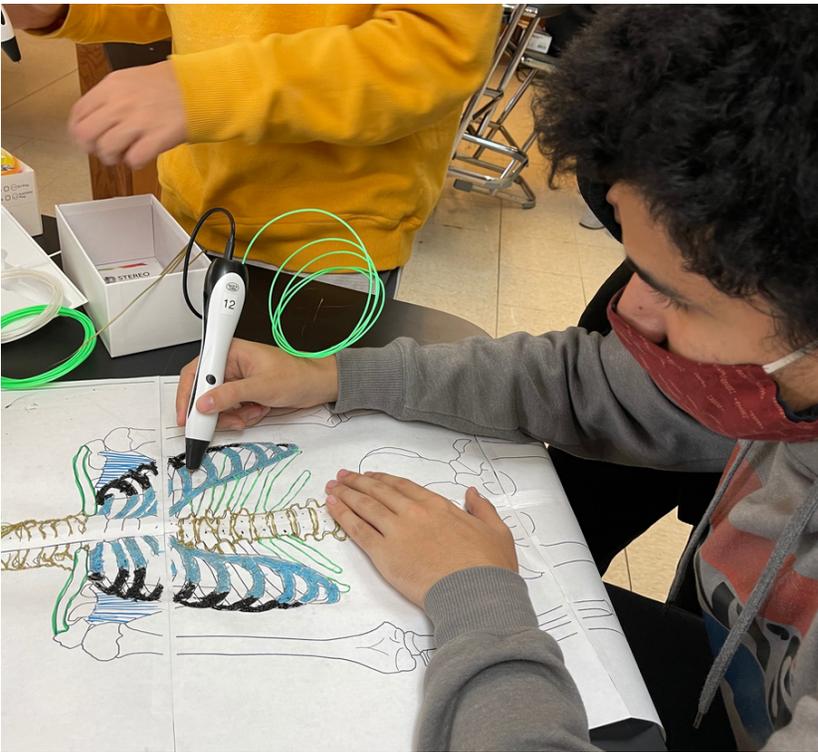

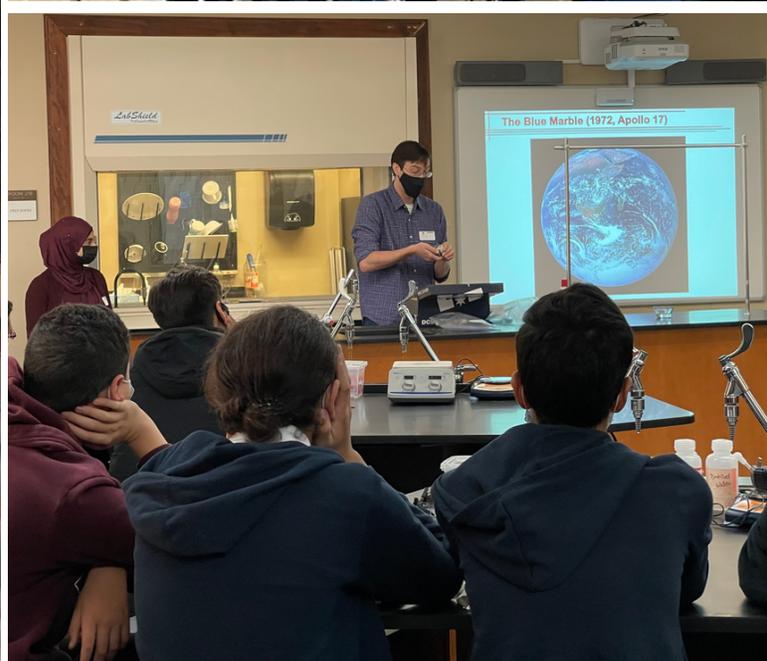

MIDDLE SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

The Middle School students have been making great strides. The students have continuously been improving on their various language skills (Sign Language, Spanish and French). The division has been working on a variety of Social and Emotional activities that include team building and effective communication within our advisory periods. Students continue to get enrichment classes in STEAM (including culinary and visual arts). The students celebrated the legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., by making pillows for CHOP, and making snack and hygiene bags for the Afghan refugees.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

NUI high schoolers have had an exciting and rewarding last few months. Our high school was visited by the Princeton University Program in Teacher Preparation, where Princeton graduate students visited our classes with their professor. The Princeton team was very impressed by the professionalism of our teachers and the engagement of our students. NUI high school inducted a new cohort of National Honor Society inductees, honoring them for their commitment to service and scholarship. Finally, NUI high school students brought us great pride when they partnered with Rise Against Hunger to pack 10,000 meals for those in need on MLK Day.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT

Alhamdulillah its been a very exciting start of basketball season. It is great to finally see the middle and high school boys and girls out on the court playing. They are showing great teamwork.

MLK A DAY OF SERVICE

This MLK Day, Amira T, the President of the Disaster Relief Committee, and her fellow club members hosted a meal packaging event at NUI for those in need. The committee received an outpouring of support from the NUI and wider community and raised $5,300 to cover the cost of the program. High school students packaged 10,000 meals in one day mashallah! The meals that were made will be sent to under-resourced schools and health centers abroad.

GIVING TO NOOR-UL-IMAN

Thank you to our family and friends that donated to NUI on #GivingTuesday. Like all independent schools, Noor-Ul-Iman School depends upon the generosity of our community to sustain and advance the mission of the school. Over the years, parents, alumni, grandparents, parents of alumni, faculty, and friends have helped provide the best possible educational environment for our students.

A strong tradition of giving allows NUI to maintain its facilities, equip teachers and students with state of the art technology and resources. Thank you for always supporting NUI!
